SENATOR DUIS: Mr. President and members of the Legislature, I object to this approach. If Senator Burbach's amendment is successful, I will make the motion to take this particular amendment out. So therefore, I wish to take this first so we have our bill in form as I have promised that I would, that all I am interested in is a single tax, so therefore, I ask for a vote on the amendment and with that I close.

PRESIDENT: Senator Keyes.

SENATOR KEYES: Mr. Speaker, where can I get a copy of Senator Duis' amendment? Is it in the Journal or where because I, too, have an amendment to this bill, if Senator Burbach's amendment goes on?

PRESIDENT: Senator Duis, do you want to close debate on your...all right. Senator Mills, I am sorry.

SENATOR MILLS: Mr. President, I would like to be able to read Senator Duis' amendment. I can't vote on something, where is it, what page is it on? This is important. This is a bill that is important to many people across the state. I think we ought to be entitled to read that amendment. Where is it?

PRESIDENT: Senator Burbach, did you formerly move to amend Senator Duis' amendment?

SENATOR BURBACH: No, I did not. However, since this time, I found out it is not in the Journal and I think my amendment is in the Journal. It has the priority. The Duis amendment was only filed with the Clerk and not made a matter of record in the Journal. So now I move that the one that is printed in the Journal be given first priority.

PRESIDENT: I am not sure that that is the procedure. I think you can move to make yours the amended amendment to Senator Duis' amendment. Whether it is printed in the Journal or not, Senator Duis' amendment is before this body for resolution.

SENATOR BURBACH: I will abide by that decision, sir.

PRESIDENT: Then I think the proper way, then, it is your choice to move to amend Senator Duis' amendment with yours.

SENATOR BURBACH: I move to amend Senator Duis' amendment, yes.

PRESIDENT: With the amendment of yours, which is in the Journal.

SENATOR BURBACH: Right, correct.

CLERK: Page 196 of the Legislative Journal.

PRESIDENT: Any further comment? Senator Dickinson.

SENATOR DICKINSON: Mr. President, where are we? Is Senator
